Robertson excited to begin working for residents of Wilmington and Tewksbury

TEWKSBURY — Last week, lifelong Tewksbury resident Dave Robertson was elected as the 19th Middlesex District's State Representative. Robertson succeeded the late Jim Miceli, whom he worked under for roughly a decade through his passing last April.

Going into election night, Robertson says he felt cautiously optimistic, for he and those working on his campaign had put great effort into utilizing a wide variety of campaign strategies all the way through election day. "We had local residents go door to door, had stand outs every weekend, and made thousands of phone calls in person," he said. "Of course, it was the people who volunteered and residents who took the time to listen who made my campaign the best possible."

After waiting several hours for some early ballots to be counted on election night, Robertson was announced as the winner at about 11:30 p.m. In regards to how he thinks Rep. Miceli would feel about Robertson succeeding him, he hopes that he would be pleased. Since they both shared a love of Tewksbury and Wilmington, they prioritized the needs and wants of their constituents above all, hearing from constituents at all hours and putting their views over their own.

Since being elected, Robertson has already begun his duties as State Representative, although he will officially be sworn in in January. Currently, he has begun working towards solving the problems with transit issues amongst high volume roads, such as Route 38.

In terms of his success in the election, Robertson credits the support of his committee, volunteers and supporters for enabling him to succeed. He also thanks all those who voted in the election, regardless of their party affiliation, for this year there was record voter turnout.

As he reflects on his victory, Robertson finds one of the biggest honors his new position brings is providing him the opportunity to continue to give back to the Tewksbury and Wilmington communities.

Murray sings for 'Thank a Caregiver Campaign'

By LIZZY HILL
News Correspondent

WILMINGTON — "Just Call Me," is just one part of the campaign created with the help of another Wilmington resident: Laurie Gillis.

Seniorlink's Vice President of Marketing Laurie Gillis defines a family caregiver as anyone within the family who steps up to take care of a loved one.

"They're not professionals... but they're able to immerse themselves into these roles... all the while maintaining a household or a job," she said.

It's the goal of the "Thank A Caregiver" campaign to recognize the value of these family caregivers, who represent $470 billion in unpaid health care on behalf of their loved ones.

AARP reports that over 44 million adults in the U.S. are acting as family caregivers, providing support for their family members. Gillis included that this number, about 1 in 4 individuals, has a large impact on the workforce — as employers should account for how to support family caregivers, otherwise they'll lose their valuable employees. In the meantime, the RAISE Family Caregiver Act, signed in January, is helping family caregivers at a federal level to make sure that accommodations are put in place.

Gillis shared that the cause is close to home, as she watched her mother be a caregiver twice in her life for both her grandmother and great-grandmother.

"I grew up in a household where family takes care of family," she continued. "[My mother] took a leave of absence both times to make sure they got the care they needed."

Gillis wrote a blog post detailing firsthand the sacrifices that family caregivers make for their loved ones and how their friends and family can be their "village."

Which is why she's using this campaign with what she calls the most subtle brand play.

"It's about them; not us. Our heart and focus is recognizing and supporting them."

The team at Seniorlink wants to put the spotlight not on themselves but on the people that they don't WILMINGTON — Set in 1995, "She Kills Monsters" tells the story of Agnes and Tilly Evans, two sisters living opposite lives. While Agnes spent her time reading People Magazine and listening to Ace of Base, Tilly spent it conquering goblins and listening to The Cranberries.

But, when Tilly and her parents die in a sudden car crash, Agnes finally realizes that she knew very little about her younger sister. When she finds Tilly's homemade Dungeons & Dragons campaign, she decides to roll the dice and learn something about the secret life her sister loved so deeply.

And so, Agnes begins her adventure; coming face to face with the heroes and monsters from Tilly's life.

She learns to kick butt, take names, and learns that the true magic of Dungeons & Dragons comes from the players, not the game.

The show takes place at the Wilmington High School Auditorium on Friday, Nov. 16 and Saturday, Nov. 17 at 7 p.m. and Saturday, Nov. 17 at 2 p.m.

Tickets are $5 for students, seniors over 65, and military, and $10 for adults.

Tickets available online at

DIVORCE TAX ISSUES — PART II —

Dependency Tax Exemptions: You and your spouse should determine how you are going to claim your child(ren) as dependency exemptions on your tax returns in the year you are divorced and subsequent years. Typically, if you have 1 child, you may agree to alternate the exemption in even and odd years; if you have 2 children, you may agree to each claim 1 until only 1 child is eligible, at which time you will alternate that child; and if you have 3 children, you may agree to each claim 1 child and alternate the third (the same concept is applied to additional children so as to share the exemptions). In some cases, you may agree that if one of you does not benefit from the exemption(s) in any given tax year (e.g. you don't have any income to report), you will have to inform the other parent who can then claim the exemption(s) that year. Further, in some cases, you may agree that one of you can claim all of the exemptions (perhaps because that party is providing all of the support for the child(ren)). You and your spouse should also agree to execute all documents necessary to implement your agreement including IRS Form 8332 (Release/Revocation of Release of Claim to Exemption for Child by Custodial Parent).

With so many great causes and dedicated people across town, it can sometimes be hard to keep track of just how many organizations are making a difference in Wilmington. From helping in the schools to assisting retirees; finding support for substance abuse issues as well as those with physical disabilities. Add in the folks who help run big Wilmington events and town departments, and you're up to dozens of groups.

WCTV seeks to bring these people together for a special night that we're tentatively calling "Organization Night." On Wednesday, Nov. 28, WCTV will host a live 1-2 hour program (Comcast 9/Verizon 37) featuring dozens of community leaders and organizers who make Wilmington a great place to live.

Not only will this program inform viewers about the various groups that are around town, but it will also offer details on how you can support their mission, whether it be monetary contributions or through volunteer work.

We've already begun calling town organizations to participate in this event, but won't be able to fit all of them in that night. If you belong to a local organization and haven't yet heard from us, contact Lisa Kapala (lkapala@wctv.org) and we'll figure out a way to either record a short 1-minute PSA with your group ahead of time or at least get some details on your group to include that evening.

Our goal is to connect our community through this special live event, educating the public about all the good that is going on in the town of Wilmington.

New Programs:

These air on one of WCTV's 3 television stations (Public: Comcast 9/Verizon 37 - Government: Comcast 22/Verizon 38 - Education: Comcast 99/Verizon 39). You can also watch most of them at WCTV.org.

• WHS Athletic Hall of Fame: See some familiar faces from years ago, as dozens of alumni were recognized at the annual event. Special thanks to Jim Buckley for recording the event last weekend.

• Let's Be Candid: Have you heard about Wilmington's new "Memory Cafe?" Hear how it's helping families coping with memory loss.

• Real Estate Talks: Jonathan and Sharon are talking about wetlands and specific permits you might need.

• FEZtival of Trees PSA: Would you believe Santa came by WCTV to talk about the upcoming FEZtival of Trees at the Shriners?

• Election Recap Promo: We put together a short promo, highlighting all of the work that was done over the past four months to bring you information on the State Rep Race.

Check out WCTV.org for more information on when programs will be televised and how you can get involved at your community television station. Membership is free and there's no time commitment.

Produce a show, help in studio or cover a community event that you care about! We're here to make the process as simple as possible.

History:

The demise of the corner drug store

By LARZ F. NEILSON

The corner drug store is a concept dear to the hearts of many Americans. Every town had one. A half-century ago, Wilmington had five independent drug stores.

Doctors would write a simple prescription. The patient would take it to the Wilmington Center Pharmacy. The pharmacist, Mel or Lillian Woodside, said to be the only ones in town who could read Doc's handwriting, would putter around for a few minutes. The patient would sit at the soda fountain, probably not feeling well at all. Lil or Mel would come over with a bottle of green pills or maybe red liquid. They would explain it, and invite conversation. The price was seldom over five dollars. If the patient was destitute, it might be gratis.

Both Mel and Lil were true community leaders and the Center Pharmacy was the center of the community. The Woodsides were prime observers of people's well-being, and their concern extended well beyond the cash register. Lil was a key member of the board of the Wilmington Community Fund, providing help to people in need.

Kids would perch on the high stools at the soda fountain for sodas and ice cream cones. Lil would mix syrup and soda water in a paper cup. Or her son Leo or daughter Carol might be the one scooping ice cream onto a cone. Or it could have been Paul MacMullin, who Carol married.

That scene today seems like a Norman Rockwell illustration, cute, but cartoonish. Did it ever really happen?

For 27 years, the Woodsides ran the Wilmington Center Pharmacy, on Main Street, between the post office and Durkee's Barber Shop. You would see Mel, tall, and sophisticated, behind the prescription counter. Lillian, also a registered pharmacist, might be there, or at the soda fountain or the side counter.

In 1966, the Woodsides started a drive to build a local hospital. In spite of being close to Boston, Wilmington was at least seven miles from any hospital, and the Woodsides often saw the consequences. They collected funds for many years, but eventually were blocked by the Mass. Dept. of Public Health.

The effort, though, brought about the construction of the health center on Route 62 in North Wilmington.

Lil was honored as Wilmington's third Good Guy, an annual award that continues today.

The pharmacy closed in 1973 after two men robbed the store at gunpoint. They locked Lil and Leo in a store room and fled with drugs and money.

Louis Hailson owned the Silver Lake Pharmacy. It was originally across the street from Tat's, the paper and penny candy store. Later, when Stevens' Supermarket went out of business, the pharmacy moved into the store facing the lake.

Harry Sandler opened North Wilmington Pharmacy in November 1959. The store had a long soda fountain that quickly became a popular lunch spot. For more than a quarter century, it would be difficult to find a young woman in North Wilmington who had not worked at that soda fountain. The bane of their existence, though, was delivering prescriptions in Harry's car, a 1956 Mercury. It had a standard transmission and a low seat, making it difficult to see over the steering wheel.

One pharmacist who worked for Harry was Carol Woodside MacMullin, daughter of Mel and Lil.

Mort Kristal opened his pharmacy in the Gardiner Building about 1960, later moving to Lucci's plaza.

In the Wilmington Plaza, there was the Wilmington Plaza Drug, later known as Birch Super Drug.

Those stores have all closed, years ago, along with newer corporate stores. Wilmington is now a one drug-store town.

▲ Lillian Woodside spoke with the Wilmington selectmen, advocating for a hospital in town. The hospital was blocked by the state, but the drive brought about the building of the Regional Health Center. George Boylen is at right.

Ahern Family Charitable Foundation continues to support military families

WOBURN — Nov. 12, 2018 The Ahern Family Charitable Foundation will host its 15th annual Army-Navy Football Luncheon fundraiser on Saturday, Dec. 8, 2018 at the Scoreboard Sports Bar & Grill in Woburn. Proceeds from the luncheon will support Massachusetts children of fallen and deployed troops this holiday season through Operation Santa-Massachusetts, a program created in partnership with the Military Friends Foundation.

Tickets are available now at www.ahernfoundation.org. Attendees of the event will watch the 119th playing of the Army-Navy Football game across nearly 50 HDTVs in the newly renovated Scoreboard Sports Bar & Grill. When they aren't watching the traditional American rivalry play out, guests will enjoy a buffet lunch, raffles, and silent and live auction.

Medal of Honor (MOH) recipient Thomas Gunning Kelley, a retired captain of the United States Navy who received the Medal of Honor for his actions during the Vietnam War, will be amongst the honored guests attending. From 2003 to 2011, Kelley served as Secretary of the Massachusetts Department of Veterans' Services. He currently serves as the President of the Medal of Honor Society.

In addition, each year local media personalities, entertainers and business people join the event's Honorary Host Committee. This year's committee includes WERS morning host George Knight, comedian Dave Russo, Magic 106.7 Morning Host David O'Leary, Alt 92.9 personality Amy Brooks, WBZ Radio news announcers Tina Gao and Matt Phipps, 97.7's Lori Grande, radio personality John Willis, Boston 25's Kevin Lemanowicz, WHDH TV's Kimberly Bookman, and Boston Bruin's legend Terry O'Reilly.

The Ahern Family Charitable Foundation was established after the 9/11 terrorist attacks, and through fundraising efforts makes grants to military support organizations that provide services to veterans and current members of the U.S. military and their families.

The foundation provided a seed grant to start the Military Friends Foundation, which offers grant programs, community building events, case management and more in support of families who have faced hardships related to military service. Operation Santa-Massachusetts will provide holiday gift cards to more than 100 children of Massachusetts deployed and fallen troops in 2018.

"It's hard to believe we're already in our 15th year of the Army Navy Football Luncheon," said Bob Ahern, President of The Ahern Family Charitable Foundation. "Every year we look forward to inviting everyone back to watch our favorite rivalry, but more importantly to support the families of deployed and fallen troops during the holiday season."

To date, the Ahern Family Charitable Foundation has raised more than $600,000 in helping to provide services to veterans and current members of the U.S. military and their families.

Few weeks away from WOW's Festival of Trees

To the editor,
We are a just few weeks away from We're One Wilmington's (WOW) 8th annual Festival of Trees which will take place on Saturday, Dec. 1 from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. and Sunday, Dec. 2 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at Villanova Hall, 126 Middlesex Ave. in Wilmington.

This free family-friendly event features a raffle of fantastic holiday trees, wreaths and baskets. Pizza, baked goods and refreshments will be available and tons of entertainment is planned throughout the weekend.

Get Involved

WOW is still accepting tree, wreath and basket donations for the Festival. All donations are tax-deductible and without them our event would not be such a huge success. Donations needed include:

- Decorated artificial trees, gift baskets or wreaths
- Cases of water, juice, soda or items for the bake sale

Proceeds from this event will be used to purchase holiday gifts for local families in need and to help fund WOW's other good will initiatives throughout the year.

For information about making a donation, please contact Becky McGrath at mcgrathbecky@gmail.com or register your donation using our online form at <http://www.onewilmington.org/festival-of-trees/treebasketwreath-donations/>.

Again this year, the Festival will feature WOW's annual Angel Giving Tree. Children and adults throughout Wilmington decorate ornaments for the tree, which are tagged with holiday gift requests for community members in need. Visitors are invited to take a tagged ornament; purchase the gift items requested; and drop it back to the Festival with the label attached. The gift donor then keeps the Angel ornament as a token of appreciation for their good deed.

We are delighted that several community groups will be on hand at the Festival selling items for their winter fundraisers including:

Wilmington High School Basketball: poinsettias and raffle tickets Saturday 9-3

Wilmington High School Student Council: Wildcat magnets Saturday 9-3

Wilmington Community Fund: ornaments Saturday 9-9 and Sunday 9-3

Wilmington Youth Soccer: winter hats and backpacks: Sunday 9-3

Wilmington Cats: Saturday 3-9

Wilmington Pop Warner: ornaments Sunday 9-3

Sole Sisters 5K registrations: Saturday 9-3

Shawsheen/West PAC will be selling Wildcat Apparel: Saturday 3-9

St. Thomas Youth Group: Advent Calendars Sunday 9-3

Please visit our website <http://onewilmington.org/events/festival-of-trees/> for additional event details.

Thank you,
Karolyn LeBlanc

Thankful for support

Thank You and God Bless You,

I want to thank my husband, family, friends, neighbors and supporters who helped make my campaign possible.

I am humbled and grateful to the voters who listened, understood my message, had confidence in me and the courage to give me their vote.

I would have served both Tewksbury and Wilmington well.

Again, thank you and God bless all of you.

Finegold ready to get back to work in senate

To the voters of Andover, Dracut, Lawrence and Tewksbury:

Thank you for giving me the opportunity to serve you again. I appreciate the amount of people that came out and supported us this election. No matter what your politics are, our community is stronger when more people are given a voice, and this election cycle saw record-breaking turnout for a non-presidential year.

I also want to thank our incredible volunteers, who helped us knock on 15,000 doors across the district, made weekly phone calls to voters, and held signs for us in all kinds of weather.

Whether you chose to vote for me or not, I want to be your voice on Beacon Hill and wish to hear everyone's concerns. One of the things I've always been proudest of is having a highly responsive office, and I vow to continue that tradition as your State Senator. If there is an ever a need or issue please don't hesitate to call.

I'm excited to get to work for all of you come January.

Barry Finegold,
Senator-Elect for the 2nd
Essex & Middlesex District

Holidays bring about a hectic time for all

By SCOTT MULLOWNEY
Staff Columnist

It seems like yesterday I was sitting in this very spot writing last month's column "October, Half Over." I even made a reference to my kitchen calendar because I was looking at it from my favorite writing spot at the table. I was surprised to see the month was already half over. I'm even more surprised looking at the same calendar now and realizing it's Nov. 14.

A month gone by in the blink of an eye. That's what happens when the holidays are right around the corner. Time is eaten up like power pellets on a Pac-Man screen as hungry ghosts hunt me at every turn.

My weekends have been a frenzied blur of activities since my last column was published. Time management met critical mass a few weeks ago. My wife ordered new, long-overdue carpets to be installed in our home. I was now under a tight deadline to paint ceilings, windows, doors and wall-trim before the new rugs were put down. I'm a procrastinator, so I needed a deadline for motivation. Now I had one.

Like any non-handy handyman, I turned to the internet for tips on how to paint ceilings like a professional. Sure enough, there was a YouTube™ with step by step instructions to help me meet the challenge. I only had one weekend to finish everything or I'd be splattering paint on the new carpet no matter how many square-feet of drop cloths I used. I spent the weekend working with barely a break. I was proud of myself when I finished the job.

I didn't have time to gloat over my accomplishments. My wife and I had a mid-week trip planned to celebrate our 38th wedding anniversary at the Connecticut casinos. We were meeting friends who share the same anniversary date with us. Two days, some lost money and an expensive anniversary dinner later, we were back in Stoneham before we had time to count our losses. It was a fun trip but it ended too soon.

The following week, our real anniversary date approached. We decided to celebrate again on the actual date of our anniversary. Our favorite table at Fusion Taste beckoned. Our anniversary friends had no plans for the evening, so the four of us had yet another night out full of fond memories, great food and lots of laughs.

We had no time to rest. Another weekend of non-stop plans was already on our calendar. We looked forward to staying with friends in North Dartmouth who made plans to take us to WaterFire on the Providence River in Rhode Island. This hectic pace was beginning to take its toll on my bad knees.

We did a huge amount of walking on dark cobblestone streets maneuvering through multitudes of people at the WaterFire Veterans Day celebration. Over 80 circular metal baskets containing sparkling bonfires were floated on the three rivers that snake through the center of Providence. It was a sight to behold. My photos didn't really do it justice.

The 32 degree windswept weather made the fire all the more inviting. Afterwards, we warmed up back at our friends home with pastries, a cheese and cracker spread and a few cocktails. A pitcher of my famous Cosmopolitans ended the night on a high-note.

The next morning, our friends prepared a seven-course breakfast for us. Their son is our godchild, and he arrived for breakfast with his girlfriend and new baby Theo. I'm not sure if a grand-godchild is a thing, but this little guy will always be a welcomed addition to our family.

After breakfast, my wife and I thanked our hosts and said goodbye. We had just enough time to journey from North Dartmouth to Wilmington to attend a Sunday football party at our son's house!

We arrived at kickoff, just in time for appetizers and drinks. The main course, my son's mouth-watering spice-coated spareribs, were the highlight of the afternoon even if the New England Patriots lost to the Tennessee Titans. With my family and friends around me, and my grandchildren on my knee, I still felt like a winner.

Now that the hectic pace of the past few weekends is over, I hope to finally slow things down. But the calendar hangs over my head like the Sword of Damocles (Google it, young 'uns). Looking for downtime at this time of year is almost impossible. It's good to be busy and I'm certainly not bored. I don't have time to be! I just hope I find time to experience the holiday season before it ends.

I feel like I should be outlining my end of the year column now while I still have time to think. I'm afraid to glance at the calendar again. Like everyone else during the hectic holiday season, there is so much to do and so little time. For the next two months, fasten your seat-belt, hang on to your hat and enjoy the ride!

Winchester railroad tracks over the town center contrast with area charm

By PAUL J. ANDREWS

andrews@massupt.org
Mass. Ass'n. of School
Superintendents
Chairman of the Board of Winchester Hospital

While Burlington lacks railroad tracks, the community has been a model for growth and deserves such major praise to all current and former town government folks as I thought of the comments of one of my favorite writers David Brooks of the New York Times.

Brooks comments that "it is not one thing that you love but the confluence of a hundred things. Yes, it is the beauty of the Rockies, but it is not just the land. It is the Declaration of Independence, but not just the creed. It's winning World War II and Silicon Valley, but it is not just the accomplishments. It is the craziness, the diversity, our particular brand of madness."

Winchester Center has all the charm one needs except for an MBTA crossing structure and beams that need to be much improved by the MBTA which seems to be dragging their paper work out to delay the needed project.

Another quote that caught my attention this weekend was former US Senator John Kerry who commented "one of the greatest deficits in leadership is to not command respect for knowing where you want to go. If people doubt the mission of how it will be carried out, you've got a problem."

I happen to be writing this column on Veterans Day and feel that these statements by Brooks and Kerry are linked in so many ways, as we have just seen the temperament of the American people and feel a concern for the future of the country we love, if the division that is evident does not link to the writers of the Constitution, as well as the implementation of the great-est document in America.

We all love the work of our veterans whether in combat (past, present or future) and hope their diligence will always be honored and celebrated.

Once again, please keep Daylight Saving Time

Okay, I know we have to try harder at this effort and there are opponents but Daylight Savings Time makes so much sense as often darkness falls just as folks are heading home from work, students are heading home from after-school activities, people are heading to bus stops and runners are out there getting in their daily runs as darkness falls and lighting fades to darkness along many roads.

Drivers try to be careful but walkers or runners in dark clothes in Town Crier land become a challenge and it is sad that we could not keep Daylight Savings Time that works so well. Yes, the issue has also been brought up by Senator Ed Markey to no avail but someone said "hope springs eternal" and maybe some day we will see it happen. Remember, I am a positive thinker.

Hall of Fame

While many other communities already have a Sports Hall of Fame, considerable hard work is in progress for the Woburn Hall of Fame for Athletic Achievement and Distinguished Alumni with the nominations already in process from Oct. 1 and will end on Dec. 1. For further information folks may call www.woburnedfoundation.org/g/fundraising/woburn-hall of fame or call 781-281-9589.

This effort has been ongoing for many months and has had several notices and ads in the DailyTimes Chronicle. This will serve as a great activity and reminder of the fabulous efforts of Woburn High students. Make your nominations soon.

Business updates

Just to update you on some selected Morning Pulse comments, I am giving you a chance to think of the following: 60 percent of Americans don't know what to do with their retirement savings (several without retirement would be glad to tell them); student debt is easier to manage in the United States; State House races focused on tax and pension reform;

demonstrators block roads in central Tel Aviv in protest over pension cuts; twitter study finds coordinated pattern in post analysis about purported voter fraud; despite mounting concerns, US consumers power economy; don't worry about October stocks as they are already recovering in November; there is a gender gap in retirement as Norwegian men retire earlier than woman and waiting longer to buy a house could hurt millennials in retirement.

JUST A NOTE: First, my thanks for taking a few moments of your time to read this column and always feel free to e-mail me at andrews@massupt.org or follow me on twitter at #Paulandrewsmass — Have a great week.

OBITUARIES

Paul Matthew Chisholm

Spent summers on Lake Winnepesaukee

Paul Matthew Chisholm, age 32, of Wilmington, MA died unexpectedly on Friday, Nov. 9, 2018 at UMass Memorial-Marlborough Hospital following a long history of heart disease. He was born in Seoul, South Korea on Jan. 2, 1986 and adopted as an infant by Eileen O'Shea Chisholm and Doug Chisholm.

Affectionally nicknamed "Thud-Ouch," Paul barreled his way through life with a mischievous grin and steady determination to bring love everywhere he went. He was famous for both big and small acts of kindness, a sense of curiosity, and a "gentle giant" persona.

Fueled by his passion for taking stuff apart and putting it back together (except better than before), Paul was employed as a mechanic at Vulcan Industries since 2007. In his final years, Paul lived with extraordinary grace following a stroke in 2012, leaving him with physical challenges, but a strengthened soul.

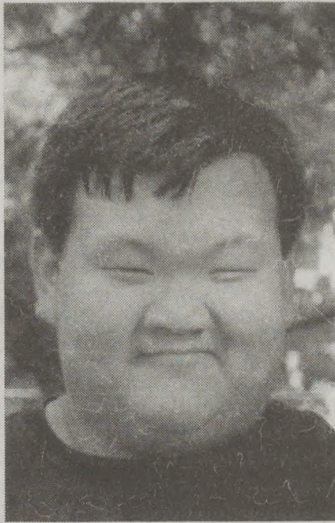

Many watched Paul grow from infancy to young adulthood at Sandy Island Family Camp on Lake Winnepesaukee, in New Hampshire, spending summers on the Service Crew and Fire Brigade. Sandy Island will remember Paul as compassionate, endlessly helpful, and a little too clever with his elaborate pranks. Paul loved new technology, the outdoors, a good car on a long stretch of road, and most of all, his friends and family.

Paul is survived by his parents, Doug Chisholm and BethAnne Magnuson, his siblings, Bethany Chisholm Yost and her husband Justin Yost, Sandi Lemieux, her husband Kyle Williams, and their daughter Ryleigh, and Trevor Lemieux.

As an individual with boundless amounts of love, Paul's heart required a family blended from every facet and stage of his life, from next door neighbors to dy Island friends to his beloved Hudson Tribe. He is survived by John Bandzul, Wendy Bandzul, Jason Bandzul, Julia Bandzul, Shane Bandzul, Christina Bandzul, Bill Madden, Jen Peterson, Lauri McHugh, Louis Vigliotti, Bryan Madden, Brandon Madden, Miki Patterson, Walter LeClair, Josh Cipkas, Becca Cipkas, April Smith, Shawn Patterson, Kyle Perry, Mary Driscoll, Elizabeth Harriman, Gary Mercer, Nathan Mercer, and Lindsay Mercer.

Visiting hours were held on Tuesday, Nov. 13 from 4 to 8 p.m. in the Dee Funeral Home, 27 Bedford St., Concord Center.

A funeral service was held in the Dee Funeral Home on Wednesday, Nov. 14 at 11 a.m. Interment will be private.

In lieu of flowers, Paul's family suggests a donation to the Paul Chisholm Memorial Fund, benefitting Sandy Island Family Camp's Fire Brigade. You can make a gift at <https://bit.ly/2FqohNU> or mail a check, Attn: Kate Lemay, Executive Director Camping Services, YMCA of Greater Boston, P. O. Box 10, Mirror Lake, NH 03853.

Arrangements are under the care of Dee Funeral Home and Cremation Service, Concord. For online guest book please visit www.deefuneralhome.com

Dedicated manager of Sacred Heart Drill Team

Joseph F. Gillard, Sr., age 81, of Tewksbury, formerly of Roslindale and Jamaica Plain, passed away Nov. 7, 2018 with his children by his side.

Joe was born in Boston on Nov. 11, 1936, the son of Alfreda (Gillard) Cooper.

On November 22, 1953, he married the love of his life, Mary T. (Bachofner) until her passing in 2012. They shared a true love story.

He worked as a Paper Cutter at T.O. Metcalf Printing in South Boston until he retired.

Joe was a dedicated manager of Sacred Heart Drill Team, Roslindale for many years and was loved by many.

He had many friends, both young and old and always made everyone smile with his quick wit and off the cuff humor.

He leaves behind his loving children, Joseph F. Jr. and his wife Peggie of Sweeney, TX, Theresa M. Hirsh and her husband Ken of Tewksbury, Steven J. Gillard and his wife Linda of Attleboro, and Patricia A. Cochrane and her husband Steve of Attleboro.

Adoring grandfather of Brandon, Matthew, and Christopher Gillard, Ryan, Matthew and Katelyn Hirsh, Stacy, Steven, and Garrett Gillard.

Great grandfather of Maleek, Aiyana, Mekhi, Oliver, and Thatcher Gillard and the late Isabella Gillard. He also leaves many caring nieces and nephews.

He was predeceased in death by his brothers, William (Al), Henry (Hank), and Elliott Gillard, and a sister, Gladys Lapierre.

Calling hours were Sunday, Nov. 11 from 2-6 p.m. at the Farmer & Dee Funeral Home, 16 Lee St., Tewksbury. His funeral procession began on Monday, Nov. 12 at 9 a.m. at the funeral home, followed by his Funeral Mass at 10 a.m. at St. William's Church, 1351 Main St., Rt. 38, Tewksbury. Interment was at Tewksbury Cemetery. In lieu of flowers, donations in Joe's memory may be made to High Pointe House, 360 North Ave., Haverhill, MA 01830.

Over 25 years in business

Matthew W. 'Matty' Goodland

Joined family business as Refrigeration Tech

Matthew W. "Matty" Goodland, age 27, a life-long resident of Wilmington, passed away at the Lahey Clinic in Burlington on Nov. 13, 2018, from injuries sustained in an auto accident.

Matthew was born in Melrose, MA on June 14, 1991; he was the cherished son of Bill and Ellen Goodland of Wilmington. Matthew was raised and educated in Wilmington and he played Wilmington Youth Hockey for many years.

Matthew attended Shawsheen Valley Regional Technical High School in Billerica where he studied Metal Fabrication and Welding. Matthew graduated from Shawsheen Tech with the Class of 2010. Following high school, Matthew went on to further his studies at the Peterson School in Woburn where he earned his certificates in HVAC as well as Refrigeration.

Matthew's family was very proud of his accomplishments; he quickly became part of the "team" in the family business at the Constant Temperature Systems Company in Billerica. Matthew worked as a HVAC Refrigeration Technician; he was known to be very conscientious at his position and had a great work ethic. Matthew's wonderful personality and his ability to work well with others made him quite a success at his job.

In his spare time, Matthew really enjoyed life and lived it to the fullest. He enjoyed being outdoors and having fun with his family and friends. Matthew spent many happy days and weeks at York Beach in Maine with family; they made countless memories that will be shared for years to come. Matthew also looked forward to his many carp fishing and kayaking expeditions with his friends; they spent so many hours just having fun.

Matthew loved spending time with his dad working on classic muscle cars and trucks; he was very talented when it came to auto mechanics and could fix just about anything.

Matthew had a true passion for music of all kinds, his favorite being heavy metal; he played the guitar in multiple bands throughout the years. He along with his fellow bank mates were featured at many small venues in the area and they loved to perform.

Matthew will be fondly remembered as a "great guy" who was kind, caring and friendly towards everyone. Matthew had a huge heart and a personality to match; he loved his family and friends unconditionally and was never afraid to show it. Matthew left a huge impression of everyone he met, and he will forever be loved and missed by all.

Matthew was the cherished son of William C. and Ellen (Kendrick) Goodland, beloved brother of Stephanie Goodland all of Wilmington. Dear grandson of the late William & Jean Kendrick and the late William & Irene Goodland.

Special nephew of William

& Janice Kendrick, Mary Jane Callahan, John & Maria Kendrick, Wayne & Adrianna Goodland, James Goodland and Cynthia Goodland.

Matthew is also survived by many loving cousins and friends as well as his special friend Monica.

Family and friends will gather at the Nichols Funeral Home, 187 Middlesex Ave. (Rt. 62), Wilmington, on Saturday, Nov. 17 at 9 a.m. followed by a Mass of Christian Burial in St. Dorothy's Church, Main St. (Rt. 38), Wilmington at 10 a.m. Interment will take place in Wildwood Cemetery, Wilmington. Visiting Hours will be held at the Funeral Home on Friday, Nov. 16 from 4 - 8 p.m.

Donations in Matthew's memory may be made to the Shawsheen Valley Technical High School Scholarship Fund, 100 Cook Street, Billerica, MA 01821.

Wayne S. Sferrazza

Spent career working at Raytheon

Wayne S. Sferrazza, age 64, of Las Vegas, NV, formerly of Wilmington, passed away unexpectedly at his home on Nov. 5, 2018.

Wayne was the cherished son of the late Francis "Frank" and Isabel (Barrett) Sferrazza, beloved brother of Donna Andrews of Lowell, Paul Sferrazza and his wife Karen, Sandra Langenfeld and her husband John all of Wilmington and the late Robert Sferrazza.

Loving uncle of Heather, Kristi, Paul Jr., Scott, Jennifer, John, Deven, Steven.

He was the great-uncle of Kevin and Caitlyn Leary. Wayne is also survived by many cousins, friends and his best furry friend Sweet Pea, a precious pit bull that he often cared for.

Wayne spent his career working for Raytheon in Massachusetts, from which he retired five years ago.

Wayne loved to travel and was fortunate to have been able to visit many places in his lifetime. He enjoyed spending time with his friends, and especially his sister Donna. He loved the New England Patriots and made sure he was able to watch all their games while living in Las Vegas. Wayne was passionate about dogs and always supported dog rescues.

Family and friends are invited to gather in memory of Wayne at the Nichols Funeral Home, 187 Middlesex Ave. (Rt. 62), Wilmington, on Friday, Nov. 23 from 11:30 - 1 p.m. Interment of his ashes will immediately follow in Wildwood Cemetery, Wilmington.

In lieu of flowers, donations in Wayne's memory may be made to the Great Dog Rescue of New England at www.gdrne.com/donate.

Wilmington youth to perform in the Nutcracker

BEVERLY — Wilmington youth will perform in the holiday classic, the Nutcracker on Friday, Dec. 7 at 10 a.m. and 7 p.m., Saturday, Dec. 8 at 1 p.m. and 7 p.m. and Sunday, Dec. 9 at 1 p.m.

The joy of Christmas is coming to the majestic Larcom Theater in Beverly, Dec. 7-9. This beautiful production of The Nutcracker has been drawing audiences to the Larcom for the last two seasons. This professional production features a contemporary twist on the old favorite guaranteed to entertain those who love to see beautiful ballet and those who just love this Christmas classic!

The Nutcracker tells the beloved holiday classic tale of a young girl who shares a Christmas celebration with her family and guests. When the gifts arrive, young Clara is given a Nutcracker by her mysterious and eccentric Uncle Drosselmeyer.

Little does Clara know that her beloved Nutcracker is actually a prince that was cursed by the evil Mouse Queen. When Clara goes to sleep, her prized Nutcracker comes alive to battle the evil Mouse Queen.

Upon killing the Mouse Queen, the Nutcracker collapses. As Clara weeps over his lifeless body, the spell

Atop Great Blue Hill

By PAIGE IMPINK
News Correspondent
paige@yourtowncrier.com

There is nothing like a crisp fall day to get out and experience New England's many hiking opportunities. Instead of heading north or west this time, we headed south to Canton and the Blue Hills Reservation.

The Blue Hills have over 125 miles of hiking trails comprised of flat walks around Houghton's Pond and Ponkapoag Pond, and steeper scrambles over granite trails up Blue Hill and along the ridge lines. The reservation lies within Canton, Milton, Quincy, Dedham and Randolph and is easily accessible off of Route 128.

The 7,000 acre property is managed by the DCR and has clear trail maps available on line or for a fee at the park. The trail we chose to reach the summit was only a few steps away from our parking spot at the Trailside Museum, a family friendly museum operated by Mass Audubon which has outdoor animal exhibits and indoor natural history interpretive displays about the area.

The trail was rocky and covered with leaves which made it a bit slippery at points but not dangerous. Most of the leaves had fallen, which transferred the orange and yellow hues from the canopy to the carpet and made for a beautiful walk. At points the trail was littered with granite blocks which appeared to have tumbled down the hill, and at other points there were exposed sheets of rock.

A walking stick would not be a bad idea but don't let this deter you. We did the hike in sneakers, though the recent rains did leave a bit of mud and rivulets to navigate. Granite quarrying was an important industry in the late 1800s in Quincy and also occasioned the first railroad in 1826, albeit horsedrawn. Granite blocks were dragged from the Quincy quarry to the Neponset River to be moved to Charlestown to build the Bunker Hill monument.

Our trek to the top was rewarded with a visit to the Eliot Bridge, named after Charles Eliot, an early founder of the Massachusetts Park System. Blue Hill Observatory, the longest running manned weather station in the country was established by Abbott Lawrence Rotch and has operated continuously since 1885, and is just a few steps beyond the bridge.

The observatory is a National Historic Landmark and offers tours of the station for a modest fee. On the day we visited, the director of the station, Don McCasland, was our guide. A fascinating array of instruments were on display, and we learned about rain gauges, mercury barometers and the incredible Campbell-Stokes sunshine recorder, a glass orb which burns a pattern into crescent-shaped paper strips, recording sun patterns since 1879.

The sun actually burns the paper when it shines through the orb. A climb up a few sets of ships ladder-type stairs took us to the roof of the observatory where we were rewarded with an incredible 360 degree view. We were able to see Boston, Cape Ann, Scituate, all the way south to Brayton Point in Somerset, west to Mt. Wachusett and north to Pack Monadnock and the Wapack range. Visibility was impacted as smoke from the wildfires in California had worked its way east and caused a yellow brown tinged haze in the sky. Weather data collected three times a day at the station is sent to the National Weather Service and it operates 365 days a year no matter the conditions. The observatory is one of only a handful of manned stations in country.

Check out their website at bluehill.org. As a side note, there is a paved road to the observatory. Explore the Blue Hills soon and enjoy their varied and accessible trails. <https://www.mass.gov/locations/blue-hills-reservation>.

Don't stress over Thanksgiving; plan ahead

By HEATHER BURNS
News Correspondent

Thanksgiving in recent history has been known as the official start of the sometimes stressful holiday season. A day that was set aside by our forefathers as a day of thanks for a bountiful harvest to be shared with friends and family, still carries the same meaning today, but somehow can also bring with it extra cost and work for the average family.

There are several factors that contribute to all this holiday stress. According to Lend EDU, the online financial marketplace, the average American spends $165.14 on Thanksgiving expenses. Research done by Bob Evans Restaurants show that the average American spends seven hours preparing to make Thanksgiving dinner, which is a lot of time and money for one meal.

Over the last 20 years, according to Quartz research, the cost of Thanksgiving dinner has gone up 50 percent. This includes all the ingredients needed to create a traditional Thanksgiving celebration.

Wine, sauces and gravy have had the smallest affect on the budget, raising a mere 14 percent to 33 percent over the last two decades. Prepared pies and deserts have gone up 42 percent. The star of the cooking performance, the turkey, has gone up 50 percent, along with the cost of seasonings and spices that give us so much of the flavor we crave this time of year.

But the biggest offender of the Thanksgiving meal is the simple potato, with the cost of the spud rising 85 percent over the last 20 years.

Hipsters who prefer a more non-traditional Thanksgiving feast have a slightly higher growth of cost than the traditional counterpart. While the cost of a turducken (a turkey stuffed with duck, stuffed with chicken) has risen approximately the same rate as the traditional turkey, Hipsters have traded in potatoes and yams for beans and lentils. Unfortunately, they are paying 92 percent more for those beans and lentils than they were in 1998.

So how can we bring the cost and stress level down of the beloved family holiday? Here are a few tips to help you prepare for the big turkey day.

Start shopping early. Don't be at the super market at 5:30 on Wednesday night. You will be stressed and tired, and be more likely to over spend.

Make the freezer your friend. Make and freeze gravy now, and the drippings from the turkey can be added last minute for that authentic taste everyone loves. If your dessert table is as big as your dinner table, bake and freeze fruit pies, cakes and cookies in advance. Baking all at once also saves time and money.

Besides having a checklist for food items, make sure in advance you have all the cookware and kitchen tools you need to prepare dinner. Don't make that new pumpkin cheesecake recipe you found in a magazine, and then realize that you needed a springform pan that you don't own!

Give your frozen turkey plenty of time to defrost before the big day. I think we have all been there on Thanksgiving morning, frantically pouring warm water over a still frozen bird in the sink. A completely frozen turkey needs a day to thaw for every 4 pounds.

Have a BYOD Celebration (Bring Your Own Dish). When hosting a large group, ask family and friends to ease the burden by everyone bringing a dish. Don't request specific dishes, but rather general types, like side dishes or desserts. It's fun to try and share recipes with other families and cultures.

Learn to delegate. If your aunt is at the bakery, ask her to pick up the rolls. If you need extra ice, ask your brother-in-law to bring it when he comes for dinner. Most of your friends and family want to help, so let them!

Keep it simple. If you are not a gourmet chef, or someone that enjoys the challenge of a new and complex recipe, then stick to what you know. Trying complicated new recipes can just add unwanted stress and expense.

If the whole "cooking a meal" is just too daunting, you still have many options to enjoy a Thanksgiving feast.

Online you can find many "mail order meals" that are fully cooked, frozen and delivered to your door. But buyer beware, this luxury comes at a price. Also many chain restaurants offer heat and serve meals to go, that can be delivered to your door or picked up at nearby locations. These options are also more costly as you are paying for convenience.

Local super markets are also in the prepared turkey day meal game. They offer fully cooked meals with all the fixings (including dessert) at very reasonable prices.

Most local restaurants are closed on Thanksgiving, but some offer heat and serve meals or sides for pick up the day before. Many function halls will offer reservation only Thanksgiving buffets, so you won't even have to vacuum or do the dishes! Check your favorite country club, hotel, or function hall's website for availability and reservation information.

In the end, it's not about the fancy food, it's about all the things you are thankful for, and spending quality time with family and friends. Don't stress about having the perfect "Martha Stewart" meal, focus on the celebration itself. Remember, the more you prepare, the more you will save in time and money. Cook in or take out, either way, relax and enjoy the day!

Troop 136 supports iPods for Wounded Veterans

Boy Scout Troop 136 conducted an event on Saturday, Nov. 10 where the public was invited to write Christmas and holiday cards to support iPods for Wounded Veterans. As this event, Haverhill native and World War II Veteran Sgt John Katsaros (center) gave a talk on his service in the U S Army Air Corps. State Representative-Elect Dave Robertson and student Theo Bryson were also in attendance. Pictured are, from left, Robert Cimeno, Conor Byrnes, Max Pappas, World War II Veteran Sgt John Katsaros, Robin Theodos, and Frank West. Boy Scout Troop 136 is looking for a few boys and girls interested in scouting. They meet at the Masonic Lodge on Church Street Thursdays from 7-8:30 p.m. or email: troop136wilm@aol.com for further info.

DECA DRIVE
November 9 - November 30

THE SPIRIT OF GIVING

The Wilmington/Tewksbury Chamber of Commerce is hosting a DECA Drive thru November 30th.

Please join us in donating funds to support the club's goals & objectives

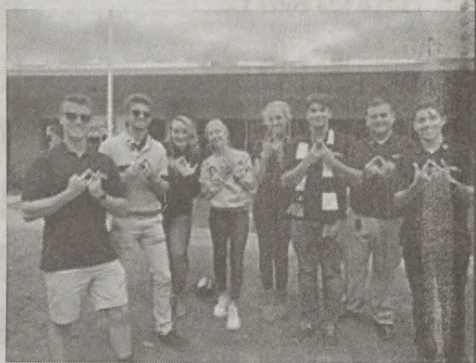

These students are our future leaders and business owners!

WHAT IS DECA?

DECA (Distributive Education Clubs of America) is a competitive business club and national organization for high school students enrolled in a qualified business course. DECA gives students the opportunity to compete with other DECA members in district, state, and national competitions. Wilmington High School DECA members have advanced to national competition and recently participated in the competition in Atlanta and Southern California.

Student leadership, vocational understanding, social skills, and philanthropic activities are the focus of this club. DECA helps prepare its members to be future leaders in the fields of marketing, management, and entrepreneurship.

WHY DECA?

The Wilmington/Tewksbury Chamber of Commerce supports the development of career skills and partners with WHS DECA on a variety of projects including the WHS Career Fair, Chamber Welcome Bag Program, and Road Race activities. Members volunteer their time assisting with these projects.

The Chamber is GIVING BACK to Wilmington High School DECA by kicking off the DECA DRIVE with a $300 donation. Funds raised will be used towards competition travel costs. No donation too small!

* DECA is a non-profit 501 C3 student organization.

"I don't want to come off as cliché, but it is an honor to continue working for my hometowns which have given me everything," Robertson said. "My coworker KC Fussell and I are already standing by and helping some folks, so if anyone needs help don't wait to reach out, and I look forward to working with all to make our homes even better."

get to serve up close and personal — because they're outside of Seniorlink's reach — with something for each day that's inspired by or for family caregivers.

Gillis, who's been able to connect with quite a few caregivers in her three years at Seniorlink, remarked that family caregiving is a form of art.

"We can celebrate the art of caregiving through actual art."

The specific media content they've been producing include but aren't limited to video testimonials, blog posts, personal essays, book readings, and a song.

Ryann Murray was Gillis' first and only choice to perform the song, which they released on Vimeo.

"I'd heard her voice 10 years ago... and it was through her that we connected with Joe [Freda]."

Gillis wrote the lyrics with Freda, providing insight into the lives of family caregivers. Murray is a life-long Wilmington resident, who graduated from Matignon High School in Cambridge after transferring from WHS.

She then went on to study Musical Theater at the American Musical and Dramatic Academy in New York City, finishing her degree in 2004.

Murray stepped into the opportunity having a similar experience to Gillis, after watching her parents be caregivers to her grandparents.

"Going forward it's something we'll all deal with,"

she said.

The sacrifice that family caregivers make and the support that they need were the themes that Freda, Gillis, and Murray brought up in their writing session.

"The song is meant to show appreciation and gratitude for the people... that put their own needs aside to take care of somebody else."

Anyone can listen to the song and be inspired to reach out to someone they know who is a family caregiver and needs some uplifting.

Besides this new song, which can be found at <https://vimeo.com/298003720>, Murray also sings often for the Robert F. Kennedy Children's Action Corps program and as a duo with her best friend performing at restaurants.

Seniors, students show off talent by working together

Senior Center WHS scholarship fund.

"We hope that the talent show will set the mood for the holiday season," said Laura Pickett, Case Manager at the Dept. of Elderly Services.

The content will appeal to people of all ages.

"Small children will love it."

The annual town talent show represents one of the many intergenerational activities at the Senior Center. As such, it includes a mix of seniors and school students in all aspects of the production.

The show is produced and directed by town resident Audrey Reed.

"She came up with a vision and wanted to do a holiday show," Pickett explained.

Feedback on the idea was very positive.

"She really is the talent scout and the producer," Pickett said referring also to Reed's high energy and strong organizational skills as key assets.

Reed started her work many months in advance by organizing support and recruiting talent. People of all ages will be featured. The show is mostly musical entertainment and includes group and individual acts. It features talent from throughout the local community.

"I have some really good new talent coming," Reed reported. "We will have everything from more traditional Christmas fun to two elves doing hip-hop."

She explained that two young children saw their grandparents in the show last year and wanted to know if they could be in it this year. And of course, they could.

The many different performers include Abundant Life Church Choir and a group from Debbie's Dance Studio. The Senior Center's chorus Fun Singers and the high school's group Sound-scape will also participate. And many local individuals have agreed to join in the fun.

In addition, high school students volunteer their time to operate support systems such as the sound system and lighting.

"They do such a good job," Pickett reported. "It's complicated so we're very lucky to have them behind us."

This event, as well as the center's many other intergenerational projects, provide a chance for young adults to connect with older people. There is value for both.

"The lines start to blur between the age groups," Pickett said. "You'll hear jokes, questions, small talk, and it's just fun."

Connections are definitely established.

Boys Cross-Country team finishes second at D4 Eastern Mass Championship Meet

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

WRENTHAM - Back in 2015, the Wilmington High School Boys' Cross-Country team finished in 22nd place at the Division 4 Eastern Mass Meet. In 2016, the team improved that mark and bumped up eight spots to No. 14.

Last year the Wildcats made the giant leap, going from 14th to 3rd and qualifying for the All-State Meet.

On Saturday morning while the rain was coming down and the conditions were sloppy and muddy, the Wildcats made program history once again.

Wilmington finished in second place at the D4 Meet, the best finish in the EMass/All-State format and equaled the best performance in program history dating back to 1974 when the Wildcats finished second at the Class Meet to Seekonk. That team featured the likes of Ian MacInnis, Doug Spring, Tony Gravalles and Peter McNaughton.

On Saturday, Wilmington finished with 92 points finishing behind Newburyport, who finished with an impressively low 53 points. The second-place finish earns the 'Cats another trip to compete in the Division 2 bracket of the All-State Meet which will be held on Saturday at Westfield's Stanley Park starting at 2:40 pm.

Newburyport won their second straight Division 4 Eastern Mass title after finishing in second place in 2015. The six years before that, the Clippers finished first or second in Division 5, meaning the team has been crowned D4 or 5 EMass Champions five times and runners-up the other three times.

"We said it all along that we had a good chance (to win)," said head coach Brian Schell. "Our kids were just phenomenal today. Our top five finishers all had personal records and that obviously was huge for us, but you have to give a lot of credit to Newburyport as well because they brought it today. That's what a state meet is - it's crunch time and it's about everything that we have trained for all season and these kids brought it today, they really did."

Back in 2015, Wilmington's place finishers were at 63, 105, 141, 153 and 156.

In 2016, it went 53, 62, 94, 102 and 104.

In 2017, it went 22, 25, 28, 49 and 53.

On Saturday, it went 10, 11, 22, 24 and 25.

That means in four seasons, the team went from having no finishers in the top 62, to having five finishers in the top 25. It also means that from last year's then record-setting performance to this year, the runners jumped up 12, 14, 6, 25 and 28 spots, respectively, an average of 17 spots which is pretty unfathomable.

"To have four of the top twenty-five finishers, against the teams in this division, was just huge for us. Of the five, three of them return next year and of the seven who ran today, five of them return," said Schell.

Wilmington was led by senior Ben Packer, who was 10th, coming in at 16:54.6. Last year he was 22nd at 17:20.27 and the year before that - his first in the sport - he was 62nd at 18:11.39. In two years he improved his time 1:17.

Junior Greg Adamek was right on Packer's heels the entire race and he finished 11th at 16:54.6, to also earn an individual medal with Packer as two of the top 15 finishers in the D4 section. The previous best performance from the team came in 2012 when Steve Halas finished 16th at 16:51.9.

Last year Adamek was 25th at 17:25.29 and the year before that as a ninth grader, he was 94th at 18:51.14. In two years, he picked up 83 places and knocked off 1:56 off his time.

Junior Nolan Kennedy was third for Wilmington coming in 22nd at 17:31.2, followed by sophomore Sean Riley, who was 24th at 17:35.9. Neither of them had run in a varsity championship meet before.

The team's fifth finisher was senior Kevin Elderd, who came across 25th overall at 17:37.8. Last year he finished 49th at 17:59.34 and the year before that he was 102nd at 18:55.94, meaning he dropped 77 places and 1:18 off his time in two years.

Juniors Joe Lydon and Jake Danieli also had strong performances running sixth and seventh for the team. Lydon was 48th overall at 18:14.8. Had he suited up for another school, he would have finished first on four different teams and second on 12 other teams.

Danieli finished 93rd overall with a time of 19:10.2.

"Everybody who ran today made a difference," said Schell. "It wasn't just the top five guys, it was certainly all seven of them. They all put in the work, they all deserved to compete in this race and they did it. Second place, so we come away with that runner's up trophy, it's huge for them and it shows the work ethic is paying off for them, especially when it's a personal record coming in such a big meet."

One-two punch comes through with championship-like performances

WRENTHAM - Moments after crossing the finish line, Ben Packer collapsed on the ground. It didn't take him long to get up, turn around and see that teammate Greg Adamek had finished the spot right behind him. Immediately Packer jumped into the face of Adamek in complete joy, yelling 'we did it, we did it'.

What the two of them did on Saturday morning is really nothing short of incredible.

Packer finished 10th and Adamek finished 11th out of 172 runners in the Division 4 Eastern Mass Cross-Country Championship Meet held at the Wrentham Development Center.

The two of them earned individual medals for their place-finishes and it's the best performances since back in 2012 when Steve Halas established a new program record of running a time of 16:51.9 on that same course. Halas finished 16th and advanced to the All-State Meet as an individual along with Erik Alatalo, who was 28th overall. Both Halas and Alatalo went on to run in the NE-10 Conference at UMass-Lowell and Bentley University, respectively.

On Saturday morning, the Division 4 section was the first race of the day. At that time the rain was still coming down, the course was slippery and muddy, and certainly it was a bit chilly.

Both Packer and Adamek didn't let those things stand in their way. The two had their personal best performances coming across the finish line with times of 16:54.6 and 16:55.6, all the while and more importantly, leading the Wildcats to a second-place finish, equally the finish set by the 1974 team, and helped Wilmington advance to the All-State Meet for the second straight year.

"It's huge that we qualified for the All-States for the second straight year," said Packer. "We will continue to focus on racing hard. I think the progression of the team over the last few years is amazing and just so great. I think the team will be able to keep it up next year as long as they continue to work really hard."

Packer mentioned the progression of the team and this is a perfect example of a coach developing his ath-

1998 Wildcat Baseball team among top three in program history

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

jamiepote@hotmail.com

NORTH READING - The late Dick Scanlon's 1998 group of ballplayers became just the third Wildcat team in the history of the program to be elected into the Wilmington High School Hall of Fame, joining the 1962 and 1977 teams, back on November 3rd at the Hillview Country Club.

The Wildcats finished 16-9 overall that season, captured the Division 3 North Sectional crown, before losing in the state semi-finals to the eventual state champions from Bishop Stang High.

That 1998 season was truly special, yet different and unique in so many ways.

The year before Scanlon guided the team to a 14-7 record, and had lost 12 total players off that club including Sean Kerrigan, who went to play in a pair of Division 2 College World Series with UMass-Lowell, an ace pitcher in Lee Trimarchi, and several outstanding athletes in Billy Harrison, Eric Clancy and Eric McKenna.

Before finalizing up the pre-season scrimmages, Scanlon was asked by this reporter about his thoughts entering the '98 season.

"The pitching is pretty good, but my biggest concern is catching. We have to win the games that we should, but we will have problems with the good teams. If we win a few games in a row, then maybe we can finish at .500 (and make the state tournament)."

Wilmington started off 0-2, before going 12-4 in their next 16 games, and then dropped the last two games to a pair of excellent teams in Reading and Tewksbury.

After a ten-day lay-off, the team entered the state tournament as the No. 8 seed, knocked off Bishop Fenwick, Wayland, Rockport and Arlington Catholic to capture the North Sectional title before losing in the Final-4, despite having a batterymate tandem that had about 15 combined varsity innings under their belts.

Along the way from the pre-season scrimmages, to the 0-2 start, to the red-hot middle, to the four state tournament wins, including two walk-off wins, this team faced two pitchers who went on to play professional baseball, had their own ace pitcher, Scott Swiezynski, finish the season at 10-0, including a no-hit complete game shut out with 15 strikeouts and one walk, had two players return after sitting out the entire '97 season with injuries, while at the plate the team had many crushing home runs throughout the course of the season.

"We have some pretty good ball players, but we have a lot of players who are inexperienced," said Scanlon in that same interview.

While the team had lost 12 players from the 14-win season the year before, there were a handful of players who came out of nowhere to nail down opening day spots and went on to have phenomenal seasons, whether it was Jimmy O'Donnell, Matt Meuse or Ryan Harrison, to name just a few.

Among the members of the team included Dave DeAmato, who went to become the long-snapper for the Syracuse University Football team; Swiezynski and Eric Banda who previously had been inducted into the WHS Hall of Fame as individual athletes (Scanlon was inducted beforehand); Pat Heffernan went on to become a state champion wrestler at WHS; Peter Grasso graduated and went on to play baseball at Bentley; and it was only about five months earlier when Peter Bamberg and Dan Sweet were a part of Scanlon's soccer team which advanced to the state final.

While it took a few games before '98 Wildcats got going - especially defensively - the team took off after giving up a combined 18 runs in losses to Tewksbury and Newburyport to open the season.

After that came wins over Lynnfield, over Ipswich including Swiezynski outpitching Erik Drown, who furthered his career at UConn and briefly in Single-A, as well as games over North Reading, Triton and Manchester-Essex.

Right before the game with the always dangerous NR club, Wilmington was defeated by Masconomet as Ben Crockett earned the win. He went on to pitch at Harvard, was drafted by the Colorado Rockies in the third round and is now working in the Boston Red Sox front office.

After the win over ME, Wilmington was 7-4. The next game is one no one will forget as Swiezynski tossed a no-hitter with 15 strikeouts. He walked one batter on a 3-2 pitch in the sixth inning. He was so dominant, he struck out 9-of-the-first-12 batters he faced.

A few days after that win, the team lost arguably its biggest fan as Jack Smith, a big supporter of WHS Athletics, in particular the diamond teams, passed away at the young age of 62. Wilmington eventually closed out the regular season with a win over Malden Catholic, a dramatic 2-1, 10-inning classic loss to Reading in the championship game of the Memorial Day Tournament when a sophomore named Sean Quigley tossed the game of his life in his first varsity start.

The 'Cats then had a 10-day lay-off before the state tournament began and that's when the team got red-hot at the right time, topping Bishop Fenwick, 9-4, Wayland, 5-4, Rockport, 3-2, and Arlington Catholic, 7-4. In the four wins, there were certainly many dramatic moments, most especially in the Wayland contest.

Wilmington led 4-1, thanks in part to a mammoth 3-run homer by Meuse, but the Tigers rallied back to score three runs in the top of the seventh to tie it up. In the home half, Banda singled and O'Donnell walked, setting up the stage for Pat Heffernan to bunt, right?

After digging himself into an 0-2 hole, Heffernan worked the count to 2-2 and still everyone expected the lefty to put down a bunt. Instead, on ball three, Banda stole third. On the next pitch, with O'Donnell going from first, Heffernan hit a sharp grounder that went off the first baseman's glove. The second baseman picked up the ball and fired home, but it was too late as Banda crossed the plate standing up. Wayland argued that he should have been out for not sliding but that went on dear ears.

Minutes later, Scanlon cracked the biggest smile and said, "Wow, what a game! They all thought I was going to have Pat bunt with two strikes. They never saw the steal coming."

Wilmington went on to defeat Rockport as Paul Fugere, who was tremendous all season as the No. 2 pitcher, delivered a walk-off RBI single, before Swiezynski nailed down his tenth victory in the North Final game played at Lowell's Alumni Stadium.

Wilmington advanced to the state semi-final, and after an hour delay for field improvements, Stang, out of Dartmouth sporting an 18-2 record, belted three home runs as part of the 5-1 win. Two days later, they celebrated on Fenway Park's Field as state champions defeating Northbridge, 5-3, who was led by Rick Asadoorian.

The following year, Asadoorian led Northbridge to the state title and then was drafted in the first round by the Red Sox in the 1999 draft and signed him to a record 1.7 million dollar deal. He stayed in the Sox system for just two years before being sent to St. Louis in 2011 as part of the Dustin Hermanson deal and bounced around through several different organizations after that but never making it to MLB.

None of the Wilmington players from that year's team were drafted or signed million dollar contracts, but they probably have a million memories.

"All week they had talked about the possibility of playing in Fenway Park - Dave DeAmato patrolling the left field of Ted Williams and Carl Yastrzemski, Swiezynski rearing back on the hill of Roger Clemens ... in the kinds of things ballplayers of all ages dream about," wrote former Town Crier sportswriter Jeff Nazzaro.

"It felt like a dream all day," right fielder Brian

McCarthy said to Nazzaro while recovering the sting from the loss to Stang. "It was a great feeling."

Certainly it's a great feeling for the entire 1998 Baseball team including the late head coach Dick Scanlon, with assistants Bob Gillis and Rob Patterson, and players Matt Meuse, Eric Banda, Tommy Southmayd, Scott Swiezynski, Paul Fugere, Jim O'Donnell, Peter Grasso, Ryan Harrison, Pat Heffernan, Mike Heffernan, Dave DeAmato, Tim Gillis, Brian McCarthy, Peter Bamberg, Dan Sweet and Sean Quigley to know as a collective group, they are one of the top three teams in the 85-year history of the program and one of just 17 teams in the history of all WHS Athletics to be enshrined into the Hall of Fame.

One-two punch leads Wilmington Boys Cross-Country team to All-States

letes over a course of time. Packer came out for the team as a sophomore after playing soccer as a freshman, and finished 62nd and last year as a junior he was the team's top performer and 22nd overall. Adamek was 94th two years ago, 25th last year and 11th on Saturday, while both dropping their times down almost 80 seconds each.

"The whole race from start to finish Ben just progressed," said head coach Brian Schell. "He was looking at me wondering what place he was in (during different parts of the race) and I was just telling him to continue to bump up and he did, and he progressed the whole race. He was smooth the whole time. He ran pretty much even splits and this is a big course. He's now the second fastest runner that I've coached at this meet since Halas.

"Greg is a junior and he returns next year. He had a great finish in this race today including sprinting by one of the Newburyport kids. He had a great surge at the end. It looks great for him in particular going into next year's season. For Ben and Greg to be able to work together, obviously the whole team to work and train together, it was awesome."

The two of them had different starts to this race. Adamek seemed to get off a bit slower than usual.

"It was pretty muddy out there and I was slipping a lot," said Adamek. "It was really painful, especially that second mile. I ran out in the first mile (with a) five-minute (split) so that's pretty fast for me, but it just happened that way. Then in the second half of the second mile and into the third mile, Ben pushed me."

Usually Packer is the one who starts out a bit too fast, but this time he held a more conservative approach.

"In big races like this, I tend to get really energetic and I sprint out to the front of the pack," said Packer. "This race I decided to hold it back a little bit and in the top 15. I knew entering this race that I wanted to come home with an (individual) medal and you need to finish in the top-15 to do get one."

"I was inbetween spots 10-15 and I started to pick off some runners and I just then stayed with the others or took them slowly. This was the biggest race of the year so I decided that I had to leave absolutely everything I had out on the course so the last 800-meters, I was really pumping the arms and going as fast as I could."

On the final stretch into the open as the finish line approached, both Packer and Adamek indeed had a strong kick, and has passed some runners, inching their way up to elite status. They crossed that finish line, cold and wet, with dirt marks across their legs and faces. Adamek didn't have a chance to catch his breath before Packer decided to celebrate.

"Greg finished right behind me the whole race," said Packer. "Last week at the State Coaches Meet, he beat me (and was the team's top finisher). I knew today that he would be right up there with me, but at the same time I wanted to get first place for my team and I wanted to bring home a medal. I knew he was close behind me and I think it's good that he was right behind me so he also got a medal and it helped the team take second place."

Following the two of them were three more teammates, who all finished in the top 25 which officially gave Wilmington the Division 4 Eastern Mass runners-up trophy, and a trip to this Saturday's All-State Meet to be held in Westfield.

"At the beginning of the season, after knowing that we had made the all-state meet last year, we were pushing for the team to finish first or second at this meet, get some medals and stuff like that," said Adamek. "Throughout the season we worked towards that and our motivation all season was to do just that."

"We just wanted to do well at the (Eastern Mass race) and then kick butt at the (All) State Meet. I know it's been a while since anyone medaled here, so I'm really glad that both of us were able to do it. The entire team will be trading hard for next week. Hopefully we all go there and do well."

Pee Wee 2's hold on for a 3-2 victory

It was off to beautiful route 1 in Saugus Sunday night at the good 'ol "Hockey Town" complex as the Wilmington Pee Wee 2 youth hockey team took on the Newburyport Clippers.

The 'Clips came into this one looking for their 1st win of the season at 0-3-1, while the Wildcats were looking to improve on their own 2-1 record. This was the 1st meeting of the year for these two clubs.

The first period went scoreless and saw some stellar goaltending from Dylan Ward. He's played all but one game back there for the 'Cats thus far on the year. He's always ready to hold his end of the game up for his teammates whenever called upon, giving them their best chance to win games. Tonight was no different as we were set for another dandy.

After an animated speech between periods from Coach

Todd Flynn Wilmington came over boards fast, focused and furious, creating multiple opportunities in the Clipper's zone. It would be Ryan Weinstein throwing his team on his back striking not once, but twice in the period, with assists coming from Nicholas DiGiovanni (2), Matty Newhouse, and Ryan Flynn and the 'Cats would hold a 2-0 lead at periods end.

Later on, Aaden Caralis battled thru double teams, as Jake Carr whipped between oversized defenders while Devin Mederios continued to do the dirty work in the corners as the Wildcats did anything and everything to hold the back the Clipper's surge. They managed through the second but the third period would be more of the same, and the Newburyport effort would inevitably begin to bear fruit.

The Clippers' work paid off with back-to-back goals that tied things up early in third period.

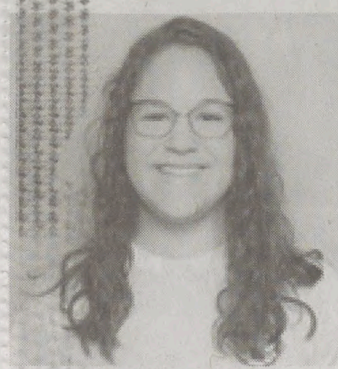

For the second week in a row Wilmington had a battle on their hands after leading comfortably throughout. But battle they did as the "Great Wall of Wilmington" defense locked down behind their pairings of Corrine Foley with Derek Sun and Conor Lynch alongside Aaron Tarr. These kids, with Dylan Ward in goal just decided at some point that the Newburyport side of the scoreboard wasn't going to change from the glowing red "2" that was up there!

The forwards answered the bell as well when Nicholas DiGiovanni slipped the game winner thru with just over 3mins left to play, from Ryan Flynn and Ryan Weinstein, (who capped off a three point night) and Wilmington was on their way to a 3-2 victory.

Southern Vermont's Wierzbicki picks up some hardware

sports@yourtowncrier.com
Southern Vermont sophomore defender Jayne Wierzbicki was selected to the New England Collegiate Conference (NECC) All-First team for her performance with the Mountaineers this season.

JAYNE WIERZBICKI

Wierzbicki moved to the defense for 2018 and excelled in her new role after being a midfielder on the 2017 All-NECC Second Team. She still posted three goals and two assists with one of her tallies being a game winner. "I'm extremely proud of Jayne and what she has accomplished this year," Southern Vermont coach Michael Zauzig told the Mountaineers website. "She's a player who puts everything into each match. She's become more of a leader this year and wants to do anything she can do to help the team be successful. She has been excellent as a center back, and I'm glad that it was seen by everyone."

Brandeis University sophomore midfielder Daria Bakhtiari was one of six Judges players recognized by the University Athletic Association (UAA) on the post-season all-star teams. Bakhtiari was the Judge lone first team selection, following a season where was the team's second-leading scorer this season with five goals and 11 points, including two goals and an assist in UAA play.

DARIA BAKHTIARI

Bakhtiari netted the game-winner in the 52nd minute of a conference win over Carnegie Mellon Oct. 6, while also scoring the winning goal on an overtime penalty kick against Tufts University on Sept. 22 in a battle of unbeaten teams at the time. She also scored a goal in a 2-1 UAA loss to Emory on Oct. 14, and assisted the game-winning goal in a 4-0 league win over Rochester on Oct. 12.

Bakhtiari and the 19th ranked Judges saw their season come to an end on Saturday with a 1-0 loss to No. 25 Farmingdale State in the first round of the NCAA Division 3 Tournament.

Salem State senior defender Kaitlyn Curley was named to the 2018 Massachusetts State Collegiate Athletic Conference First Team. Curley, a three-time first team selection, helped the Vikings' defense post a 2.20 goals against average, which was fourth best in the league while contributing a goal and assist in 19 starts.

Bridgewater State University junior goalie Kellie Souza and the second seeded Bears saw their great season come to an end back on November 2nd with a 2-1 loss to No. 3 Westfield State in the semi-finals of the MASCAC Tournament.

The tough loss marked the end of an excellent season for Souza, who started all 17 games on the season for the Bears, posting a 9-6-2 overall record with a 1.47 Goals Against Average, including two shutouts.

Lenoir-Rhyne sophomore forward Stephanie Figuerido and her Bears teammate closed out their season with a 2-0 loss to Lincoln Memorial University in the semifinals of the South Atlantic Conference Tournament on November 2, finishing the season with a record of 11-6-1.

Figuerido finished her sophomore season with three goal and six points, which was good for fifth on the team.

FOOTBALL

Amherst College junior wide receiver James O'Regan had four catches for 129 yards and a touchdown to help lead the Mammoths to a 45-14 win over Williams College on Saturday afternoon as the teams played the 133rd edition of "The Biggest Little Game in America" at Lehrman Stadium in Amherst. O'Regan finished the season with 39 catches for 579 yards and four touchdowns, placing him second on the team in all three categories.

Merrimack College freshman linebacker Tyler Roberts had six tackles in the Warriors 31-14 win over Southern Connecticut in their season finale on Saturday. Roberts finished the season with 54 tackles, which was good for third most on the team, while also recovering two fumbles.

CROSS-COUNTRY

Worcester State junior Elisabeth Olson finished 94th in a field of 400 runners at the NCAA Division III New England Regional Championships held at Bowdoin's Pickards Field Course on Saturday afternoon. Olson completed the 6K course in a time of 23:49, which placed her second among Worcester State runners.

UMass Dartmouth freshman Jackie Broderick finished in 336th place at the NCAA Division III New England Regional Championships held at Bowdoin's Pickards Field Course on Saturday afternoon, finishing the 6K course in a time of 28:24.

ICE HOCKEY

UMass Dartmouth senior forward Brendan McDonough is off to a great start to the season, with a team high four goals in just four games for the Corsairs. Most recently, McDonough had a goal in the Corsairs 4-2 loss to Plymouth State last Friday night.

Salem State freshman forward Billy Falter scored what would prove to be the game winning goal in the Vikings 3-1 win over UMass Dartmouth last Thursday. Falter's goal, the first of his college career snapped what was a 1-1 second period tie at the time, and the Vikings held on for their first win of the season.

SUNY Plattsburgh senior forward Cam Owens has two goals and two assists in the Cardinals first two games of the season. He had a goal and an assist in the Cardinals 5-1 win over Morrisville in their season opener on November 2nd. He then added an assist the following day in another win over Morrisville, and scored his second goal of the season in the Cardinals 3-2 win over Geneseo on last Friday night.

Westfield State freshman forward Justin Collins has gotten his college career off to a great start, with eight points in the first five games of his career. Collins got off to a fast start with two goals in his collegiate debut back on November 2nd, in a 6-3 win over Western New England and has had assists in each game since, including one in a 3-0 win over Framingham on Saturday night.

Northeastern University sophomore defenseman Collin Murphy and the Huskies are off to a 6-3-1 start to the season. Murphy has played in eight of ten games on the season thus far after playing in 15 games last season when he joined the team at the midway point.

The No. 15 Huskies are 4-1-1 in their last six games, including a 3-2 win over UConn last Friday night and a 5-4 overtime win over UMass Lowell on Saturday.

Stevenson University senior forward Maddy Ricci is back for her fourth season with the Mustangs and she has been selected as an assistant captain for the team. Ricci has one assist so far on the season.

BASKETBALL

UMass Lowell junior forward Connor Bennett is back for his third season with the River Hawks, scoring three points in their season opening 83-74 loss to UMass Amherst last Tuesday.

Bennett appeared in 25 games last season for UMass Lowell, starting in three of them.

Curry College senior guard Emily Irwin got her season off to a great start with 14 points, seven rebounds, four assists, and six steals in a 71-63 Colonels loss to Framingham State last Friday night.

Irwin enters the season on the heels of a spectacular junior season where she was the CCC Defensive Player of the Year and a First Team All-CCC Selection, averaging 18.2 points, 7.3 rebounds, and 4.5 assists per game.

Haverford College freshman forward Caroline Andersen had a fine college debut on Monday night, playing 14 minutes and scoring five points, while also grabbing five rebounds and blocking one shot, to help lead the Fords to a 58-36 win over Immaculata.

Cheerleaders qualify for this weekend's state meet

Over the last few weeks, the Wilmington High School Cheerleading teams have competed in several meets, including taking second place at the Middlesex League and then this past weekend, the 'Cats finished third at the Division 3 North Regionals, qualifying the team for the D3 state meet which will be held this weekend at Worcester State University.

The injuries to the team have seemed to pile up, including one from this past weekend.

"We have had injuries to major athletes right before both competitions and lost skills (to our routines)," said Zuccaro. "We've reworked the routine twice. Last Friday night heading into regionals we lost Janelle Penney to an injury with only one practice left. We did our routine on Saturday morning. The team did well for going through the changes they had made the practice before. We are happy to be advancing and hoping it's our strongest performance of the season."

The team has just one senior, Chloe McCauley. The juniors include Shannon Barrett, Alexandria DiRienzo, Kaitlyn Howland and Abigail Silveria. The sophomores include Alison Celata, Allie Ford, Kaitlyn Gillespie, Jessica Hayduk and Michaela O'Brien, while the freshmen group is made up of Janelle Penney, Rachel Nally, Emersyn Foresyth, Allison Fogg, Kendall Estabrook, Sofia Donovan and Julia Campbell.

Sachems top 'Cats on the gridiron

WINCHESTER - Despite missing nine varsity players forcing to play many freshmen and sophomores, the Wilmington High School Football team put forth another strong effort, despite falling to Winchester, 34-18, in a non-qualifying contest played Friday night in the down-pouring rain.

Winchester led 34-6 at half-time before clearing out their bench in the second half to go on to win 34-18, with the 'Cats scoring their last touchdown on the final play of the game.

While the bad news was getting matched up against a far superior team and losing the team's fifth game in a row, the good news for the 'Cats is many young ninth and tenth graders got their first taste of varsity football. "I'm proud of them," said head coach Craig Turner. "They played tough until the end. I think we played six or seven freshmen tonight, so we played a lot of young kids. They hung in there. That's a good team. They are the number four seed in Division 3 North -- pretty good club."

"I thought our kids hung in there and played hard. We had a chance to make some plays and some tackles in the first half to keep us in the game but we weren't able to do that. But I think forty to forty-five percent of our starting team is out tonight."

Certainly this game was difficult to be a part of with all of the tough obstacles standing in Wilmington's way, but the players who played, deserve so much credit. Certainly Turner echoed those sentiments.

"We are playing so many young kids right now so practices have been a ball, and just so much fun," he said. "The kids are excited to be there and they have been competing. The practices have been great. The games have been tough, but practices have been really fun and we are excited to get to practice every day."

"I'm telling you, we have a great group of younger kids and they are going to be awfully special in a couple of years, maybe even next year. This experience will help them. It's not a lost season for the seniors. We have to finish strong for them, but we're going with the kids who we think will give us the best shot (to win) right now."

Wilmington's starting lineup was missing arguably its best two-way player all season in Kyle Kenyon, a terrific linebacker in Bailey Smith, a wide receiver in Connor Benoit, an offensive lineman in Karl Saied and on and on. Winchester was able to take advantage of the shortage of experienced players scoring three touchdowns in the first quarter before adding two more in the second.

The lone first half score for Wilmington came from senior running back Peter Marino, who ended the night with 149 rushing yards on 13 carries with two touchdowns, surpassing the 1,000 yard plateau for the season.

It's the second straight season under Turner that the 'Cats have had a four digit running back with Marino following in the footsteps of John Kenney.

Marino took a hand-off and jetted through the defensive line for an 89-yard TD run.

"We ran a nice inside zone and we put together a new look, that (Winchester) hadn't seen yet and we got great, great blocking up front by Dean Nally and Pat McAndrew," said Turner about the TD. "Nally had a very good game tonight (on both sides of the ball). He is playing with patchwork guys around him and he keeps making plays. He's a special kid."

In the second half, Marino scored on a 1-yard run, and then Kyle Vallee finished off a solid second half by scoring on a 16-yard run on the final play of the game (so no conversion was attempted) as he finished with 70 rushing yards on the night.

CORRECTION

In last week's Wilmington edition, there was a story printed about the youth football team that had participated for the first time in the Eastern Mass Middle School Football League.

In the headline and the article, the Town Crier referred to the team as "The Wilmington Middle School Football team," however, the team is not affiliated with Wilmington Public Schools. We apologize for the error.

COMING NEXT WEEK

The annual Thanksgiving Football Section, to preview the Big Game with Tewksbury. Inside the edition, will be a Town Crier exclusive story naming and ranking the Top 25 Running Backs in the history of the WHS Football Program.

Pop Warner C team ends magical season

A game for the ages took place this past Sunday as the Wilmington Pop Warner C Team took on Billerica for the Eastern Mass semi-final game in Billerica.

The two teams met earlier this season and with Billerica edging Wilmington 12-7 in a very tight game.

This battle would be no different.

With Billerica only giving up seven points all year (to Wilmington) they deferred, and Wilmington started with the ball. After some big stops Wilmington turned the ball over on downs and Billerica went right to work.

On the second play for the Indians they through a 45 yard pass that started the scoring and Wilmington was quickly down 6-0 after stopping the PAT kick. Wilmington then went to work and started to move the ball with Ryan Copson and Zack Timmons starting to find seams with the blocking up front from Patrick Lee, Kyle Gabaree, Will Trach, Cullen Walsh, Collin Brown, Ben Gibbons and Cam Kelly.

With some short passes from quarterback Shane Maguire to Andre Boras and Ryan Copson Wilmington continued to move the ball. Grinding out yardage Copson and Timmons fought all the way inside the 10-yard line with Maguire getting a first down on the 8-yard line on a QB sneak.

However, the defense for Billerica stiffened and stopped Wilmington on the two-yard line on fourth down.

Now Billerica with the ball tried a sweep on first down when Kelly broke through the line and swallowing the Billerica QB inside the end zone for a huge safety bringing the score to 6-2.

Wilmington getting the ball back after the safety started driving again deep into Billerica territory, but again the Billerica defense came up big on fourth down and got the ball back. Billerica was doing everything to run the ball but the entire day was shut down by the tough play from Wilmington, Trent Wedge and Ben Gibbons with great end play containing the Indians while relentless play from Walsh, Kelly, Timmons, Copson and Jacob Doucette held the Indians at bay.

Billerica then went to some trickery with a double pass which allowed a receiver to break free for another score right at the end of the first half. This time the kick was good for the two points which increased the lead to 14-2 Billerica.

Wilmington regrouped and seemed to have a different spirit as the second half started. Billerica started with the ball and on first down were dropped for a 10-yard loss on a huge tackle from Cam Kelley and Collin Brown.

With Billerica trying to pass some big plays from Kenny Branley, Luke Abbot, Jacob Britenbach stuffed Billerica and they were forced to punt. Right away as the Wilmington offense took the field you could feel throughout the entire field the momentum was changing. This time Wilmington line started to take over the game and holes started opening with Ryan Copson and Zach Timmons ripping off bigger and bigger chunks of yards. However, a penalty and dropped pass put Wilmington in a big hole with a 4th-and-18 at the 45-yard line of Billerica. Maguire then through a strike to Copson split out wide but it was a lateral and Copson through a 35-yard pass down the sideline with the catch of the year by Aiden Burke gave Wilmington a first down inside the 20.

Wilmington continued to pound the ball and finally Timmons found the endzone a five-yard TD run with the same play scoring the extra point made the game 14-9.

With Wilmington now on fire and the fourth quarter starting the defense did it again and got the offense right back on the field.

With some great blocking from Geoffrey Cavanaugh and Noah Matton Wilmington was able to move the ball to the 45-yard line and then got slowed a bit and was facing a fourth down with 11 yards to go. Shane Maguire dropped back and moved nicely in the pocket buying time then through a perfect ball to tight end Ben Gibbons on a tight end delay. Gibbons doing his best Gronk imitation rumbled and bumbled all the way down inside the 15 for a huge first down.

Then, on second-and-8 and everyone spread, Maguire took a QB sneak breaking tackle after tackle finding the endzone and going ahead 15-14, this marked the first time all year Billerica ever trailed or gave up more than one score.

Wilmington kicked off and Billerica still had ample time with 4:30 on the clock. But as luck would have it with a double pass and some balls hanging in the air but finding Billerica receivers they were able to move the ball down to the 15. As the Billerica QB was pressured and flushed out, he was able to run around the end and find the endzone with one minute left giving Billerica the win at 20-15 and ending the Season for the Cats.

This Wilmington team showed great character and fight and has accomplished so much the last two years going 15-6 with all their losses by a score or less and gave us all great excitement.

Two cheerleading teams qualify for Disney

Disney.

The next day on the 4th, the C team came in first place, making this their third first place win in a row to solidify their chance at the National Championship in Disney.

These girls have worked extremely hard and have put their heart and soul in to these competitions; to them this is the super bowl of the cheerleading world.

The team's coaching staffs have been fantastic, pushing and inspiring these girls to reach goals that they could never have imagined they could achieve. Without them, these girls would not be where they are today.

The C Team competes on Monday December 3rd and the D team on Friday December 7th.

The C-Team includes Coaches Lauren Parisi, Kelly McGowan, with student coaches: Kendall

Estabrook, Tori Ciampa, Makenzie Canning and Janelle Penney as well as cheerleaders Megan Mullarky, Haylie Perault, Brooke Gifford, Skylar Estabrook, Tatum McDonald, Ava Humphrey, Erin Murray, Mia Vacha, Emily Burton, Faith Dalton, Sabrina Gray and Rylie Eisnor.

The D team's roster was not provided to the Town Crier.

Girls continue to climb ladder and finish 17th

WRENTHAM - Led by some solid performances, the young and up and coming Wilmington High School Girls' Cross-Country team finished in 17th place during Saturday's Division 4 Eastern Mass Championship Meet held at the Wrentham Development Center.

The team was led by junior Gianna Misuraca, who finished 37th overall with a time of 21:28.8.

"Gianna killed it today and she pretty much matched her previous best time from last Sunday's (Coaches Invitational Meet)," said head coach Brian Schell. "She looked good, she looked flawless and she really progressed throughout the race. She brought it today and she kept going the whole time."

Sophomore Carissa Rubin was second for the 'Cats and 95th overall with a time of 23:03.4.

"Carissa had a personal record and almost everyone had a personal record," said the coach. "Carissa had her best time and just missed breaking 23 minutes by a couple of seconds which I know has been a big goal for her, but still, a personal record is a personal record. She was another girl who really brought it today. She has been a huge asset since joining the team."

Another underclassman, freshman Angelyn Ciampa was the team's third finisher and was 102nd overall with her personal best time of 23:14.8.

"Angie, our third runner, she had a personal record by almost thirty seconds today so that was another great performance," said Schell. "She had a great race and she worked with Carissa. Angie progressed with Carissa the entire race and they both looked good working together as a team. We knew to do that more, is having girls run together as a team, and if we can do that, build up some strength and some speed during the indoor track season, we'll get there."

The team's fourth finisher is the only one who participated in her final meet, senior Amie Russell. She was 114th overall with a time of 23:48.1.

"This was Amie's last meet, it's the last time she will be forced to run and I know she is happy about that," said Schell with a laugh. "To be my best thrower in track and then come in and run 23:49 today, a personal record for her on this course, is just tremendous. She is ecstatic because she doesn't have to run anymore and she can go back to throwing and lifting. I give her so much credit. She ended her career with a personal record, she's been our leader, not just this year but with us for the four years and she is a great, fun kid."

"She defines what I put this cross-country program into and that's whether you are a distance runner or not, we accept everybody and we train for you, and for what you want. In Amie's case, she's my best thrower in indoor and outdoor track so she does her training for that during this season and here she is today as one of my top runners at the state meet. She has done everything she possibly could for this program and she's ecstatic and I'm ecstatic for her."

The final three runners included freshman Olivia Erler, who was 120th at 24:03.1, junior Allison Jordan, who was 123rd at 24:09.7 and sophomore Maggie Bourgeois, who was 133rd at 24:49.5.

"Olivia is a strong freshman who has been coming along," said Schell. "Maggie was our number seven runner today but in track she is our 600-meter runner. She is coming along and once she builds up some more speed and endurance, she'll be taking over the top spot in the 600-1,000 (events) after Emma (Garrity) graduates."

Schell said that next year things could be totally different at this state meet.

"We return everyone except Amie. If the girls decide to train year-round, we can make a dent in terms of our record and in the league. I'm hoping they do that work in the off-season, plus with some incoming runners, we can make a big step forward next year."

Rams get back on track

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

GEORGETOWN - Points have been hard to come by as of late for the Shawsheen Tech Football team, as the Rams had been held without an offensive touchdown in each of their past two games in losses to Winthrop and Salem. But that was certainly not the case this past Friday night, when the Rams hit the road to take on Georgetown and came away with a dominant 33-12 win in a Division 6 non-playoff game.

Watching this game, you would never have thought the Rams (4-6) had been struggling on offense, as they piled up over 460 yards of total offense including 284 on the ground, led by freshman Dylan Timmons of Wilmington, who rushed for 154 yards and two touchdowns. Senior quarterback CJ Zemetres of Tewksbury, meanwhile threw for 183 yards and a pair of touchdowns, while also rushing for another 51 yards.

After not being able to score for the past two games, the Rams put up 20 points in the first quarter and 27 at the half on their way to the blowout win. Shawsheen coach Al Costabile was happy to see his team get the offense cranking again and thrilled to see his players able to celebrate a victory.

"This was absolutely just what we needed," Costabile said. "It was great for the kids. It was just so refreshing. It was a fun ride home, and we haven't had a lot of those as of late, and it was also a great way to tune up for Thanksgiving."

Shawsheen wasted little time in jumping on top in this one with Timmons scoring his first touchdown of the game just over three minutes into the contest to give the Rams a 6-0 lead with 7:56 left in the first quarter after the failed two point conversion.

Georgetown would come right back, however, with Stephen MacDonald connecting with Matt Galley for a three yard touchdown pass with 5:49 left to even the score at 6-6.

In back and forth battle, the teams once again traded touchdowns, with Pat O'Leary scampering for a 25-yard touchdown run to give Shawsheen a 13-6 lead with 4:11 left after sophomore Chris DiCiscio connected on the first of his three extra points on the night.

Georgetown would come right back once again, however, when MacDonald connected with Hunter Lane for a 12-yard scoring pass with 2:38 left in the quarter. The extra point once again failed, and the Rams maintained a slim 13-12 lead.

That was as close as Georgetown would get however, as the Rams scored the next two touchdowns to give themselves some breathing room heading into halftime. The first of those scores came on a 24-yard pass from Zemetres to Josiah Martinez (3 catches, 90 yards) with 15 seconds left in the half and the second came on another Zemetres touchdown pass, this one from 14 yards out to tight end Santino Garofalo with 8:11 left in the half to make the score 27-12 and that stood through the break.

Costabile was impressed with Zemetres' performance, and happy to see his senior signal caller rewarded for all of his hard work.

"It was a great night for CJ," Costabile said. "I have a tremendous amount of respect for the job he has done this season. He has hung in there against immense pressure and shown a lot of courage when he has had very little time to throw. He has never complained once, and I am just so proud of the job he has done."

Timmons capped the Shawsheen scoring with 2:38 left in the third quarter, this time in a two yard run, to make the score 33-12 and put an exclamation point on an incredible night from the freshman. It is only the third time in Costabile's 21 years as head coach of the Rams that a freshman has played on the varsity squad, and Timmons is making the most of his opportunity.

"This was just an incredible impact game from him," Costabile said. "He is going to be the real deal. He has tremendous upside and if he keeps working hard he is just going to keep getting better. I am very happy with what he has done so far."

Not to be forgotten in the outstanding offensive effort was the job the defense did for the Rams, completely stifling the Georgetown offense after the first quarter. Senior outside linebacker Stephan Saint Juste led the way for the Rams, with six tackles and two pass breakups, while senior defensive end Troy Tamis had five tackles and a fumble recovery, junior Jake Bonnano had five tackles and an interception and senior defensive end Frank Irizarry of Wilmington had five tackle.

"It was a great night for us," Costabile said. "It was great to be able to move the ball and to score points. We played great offense, great defense and great special teams, and it is the first time in a long time we have done all three together, so that was very good to see."

Tenaglia the recipient of dirty play

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

jamiapote@hotmail.com

On Wednesday morning, a video of former Tewksbury Memorial High School Basketball player Nate Tenaglia surfaced on social media and quickly went viral.

Tenaglia, a sophomore at Nichols College, had just drained an open three-pointer from the left hand corner. Immediately after, all you can see on the video is Fitchburg State's No. 23 Kewan Platt come jogging towards Tenaglia. Platt first sure the baseline official wasn't watching, before he threw a forearm/elbow at Tenaglia's head.

Tenaglia went down in obvious pain, but according to the school's play-by-play, Platt was not called for a foul on the play, but later video showed that he had been ejected.

It is unknown at the time what provoked what's been called the dirtiest play in collegiate basketball.

Platt is a junior forward from Jamaica Plain and played high school at Charlestown, scoring over 1,000 points before going to Monroe CC.

Tenaglia graduated from TMHS after he scored over 1,000 points and went to Bradford Christian.

The League's Commissioner, Angela Baumann issued a statement on Wednesday morning stating, "The MASCAC and Fitchburg State University take this incident very seriously. We are appalled by the actions of the student-athlete.

"(Platt) has been indefinitely suspended from the team and barred from campus. In addition, the case is under review by Fitchburg State for consideration of further sanctions. The MASCAC has also vacated his player of the week award. His behavior goes against the MASCAC's mission which includes good sportsmanship. On behalf of the MASCAC and Fitchburg State, we apologize to the Nichols College student-athlete, the team and institution."

Cross-Country teams have strong showings at State Voc Championship Meet

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

sports@yourtowncrier.com
WRENTHAM - The Shawsheen Tech Boys Cross Country team put forth an outstanding effort at the Massachusetts Vocational Schools Cross Country Championships last Wednesday afternoon at the Wrentham Developmental Center, with several runners turning in great individual performances on the way to a sixth place finish among teams with 143 points. Blackstone Valley dominated the field with 44 points to win the meet.

"Going in, I felt we would finish somewhere between fourth to sixth place," Shawsheen coach Pat Kelly said. "Greater Lawrence and Essex Tech had already beaten us during the regular season and Blackstone had done well at this meet last year. The boys ran well, however some got caught behind larger groups which makes it difficult to pass and make-up ground."

The Rams were led by senior captain Ryan Smith, who finished first in the Large School Division (and second overall among 157 runners) in a time of 17:56.

Up next for the Rams was sophomore Alex Smith (32nd, 19:52), senior Stephen Basler of Tewksbury (33rd, 19:59), sophomore Matt Hemenway (37th, 20:13), senior Ryan Andersen of Tewksbury (41st, 20:32) sophomore Dan Lee of Wilmington (46th, 21:01) and senior Jonny Pilla (60th, 21:34).

"Five of our top eight times posted that day were by sophomores, so we have a young group running at a high level, which should help us the next two years," Kelly said.

At the JV level, sophomore Cameron Rich led the way with a 15th place finish in a time of 21:16. He was followed by sophomore Sam Quattrocchi (18th, 21:27), senior Logan Salvi (22nd, 21:42), freshman Andrew Stokes of Wilmington (27th, 22:07), senior Nick Tuccelli (28th, 22:09), senior Cody Biancuzzo (34th, 22:32), senior Anthony DiCesare of Tewksbury (36th, 22:38), junior Cole Privitera (47th, 23:11), senior Kyle MacDonald (51st, 23:30), freshman Shawn Gyles (54th, 23:36), senior Ralph Desrosiers of Wilmington (59th, 23:56), freshman Victor Lam (65th, 24:26), freshman Mike Amato (68th, 24:42), freshman Adam Ippolito of Tewksbury (71st, 25:03) and freshman Ryan Johnson of Wilmington (97th, 32:22).

This past weekend, several varsity Shawsheen runners competed in the Eastern Mass Division 3 Championship race on Saturday, once again at the Wrentham Developmental Center. Smith led the way once again for Shawsheen, despite suffering a fall early in the race, finishing 79th among 199 runners in a time of 18:01.

GIRLS XC

It was a perfect day for running last Wednesday afternoon as 25 schools from all over Massachusetts descended upon the Wrentham Developmental Center to compete in the Massachusetts Vocational Schools Cross Country Championships, and for the Shawsheen Tech Girls Cross Country team, their results were nearly as perfect as the weather.

Behind several tremendous efforts throughout their lineup, the Lady Rams finished second among Large Schools for the second straight year, missing out on the title by one point, scoring 47 points compared to CAC rival Essex Tech's 46.

"Going into this meet, I knew we were a top three team, with the possibility of winning it," Shawsheen coach Pat Kelly said. "We had some injuries going into this meet and our girls stepped up and performed well, just like they have been doing all season. Once again we relied on our depth for success."

The Lady Rams, the CAC Dual Meet champions, had three runners finish in the top seven, led by senior captain Ivana Wisky of Tewksbury, who finished third overall in a time of 22:44 over the 3.1 mile course. Up next for Shawsheen was sophomore Rachael Halas, who was fifth overall in a time of 23:10, followed by senior Alex DiPerri in seventh place in a time of 23:34.

Other runners who scored for Shawsheen included junior Jess Stevens of Wilmington, who was 15th overall in a time of 24:58, and sophomore Kelley DeLosh in 23rd place in a time of 26:02.

Other Shawsheen runners included sophomore Susanna

Gillis (28th, 27:12) and senior Hayleigh Perry of Tewksbury (29th, 27:17).

In the JV Meet, the Shawsheen Girls were led by junior Annie Myers, who was sixth overall in a time of 27:29, followed by sophomore Sarah Chaffee (15th, 31:24), sophomore Sarah Comeau (19th, 33:36) and junior Olivia Pangraze (24th, 35:13).
